The CADUCEAN opens.
Our trail stretches ahead.
We look backward and see the winding road
that has brought us here.
We look forward toward a limitless future
waiting just around the bend.
Gratefully we remember those who first tread Medical College's path.
They established her traditions and blazed
the trail for us.
Humbly we pick up our packs and walk
purposefully onward.
There is much that still must be done, and
the trail is beckoning.

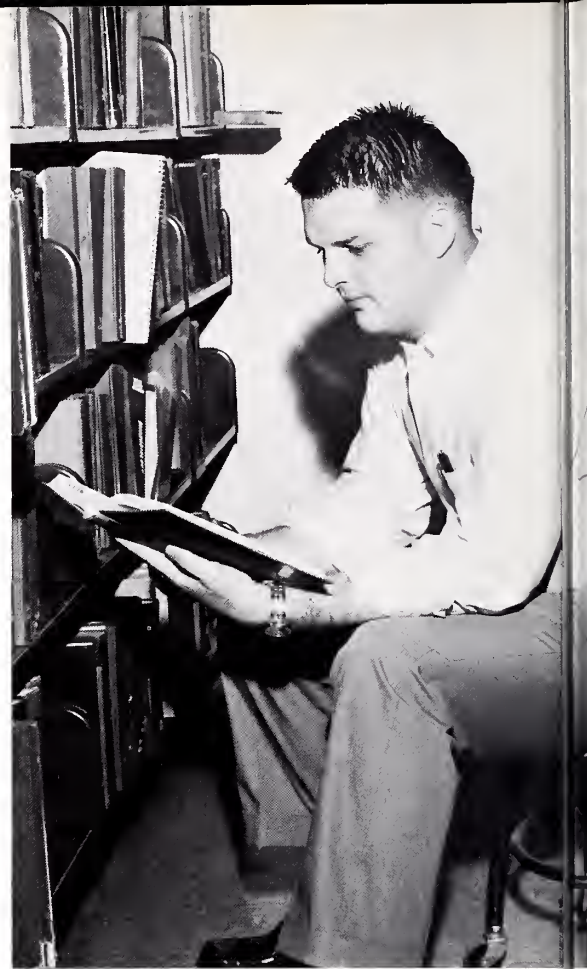

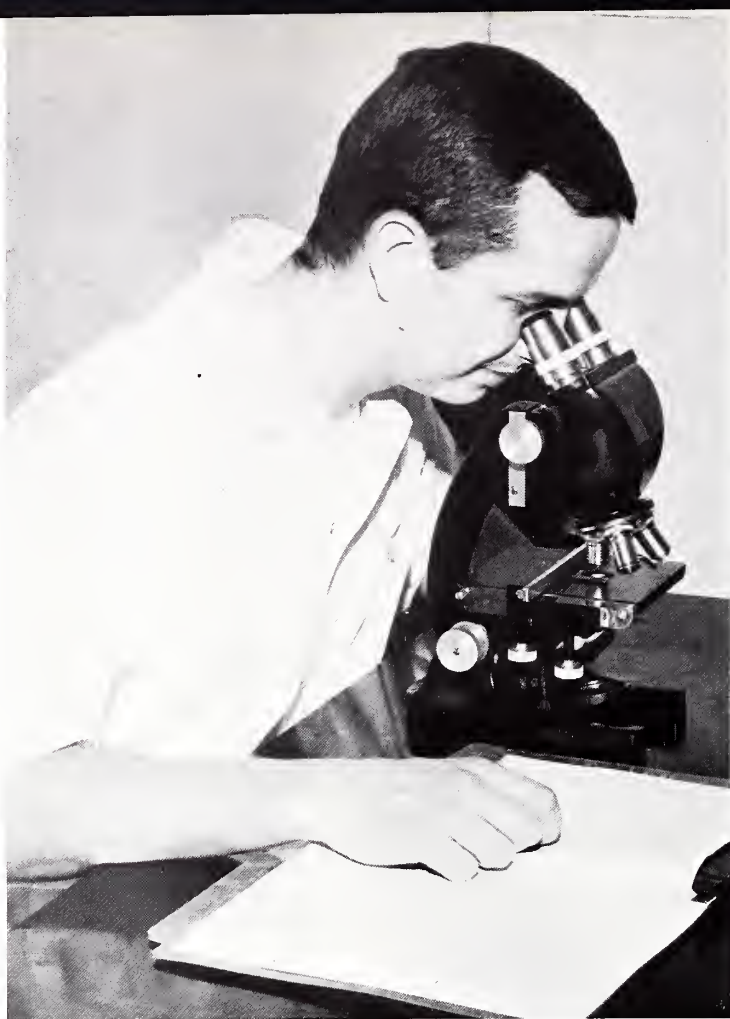

Anticipation . . .

A new life that will bring a closer understanding of friendship . . . a search for knowledge and skill that our forefathers have left us . . . an opportunity for a most rewarding expression in our life.

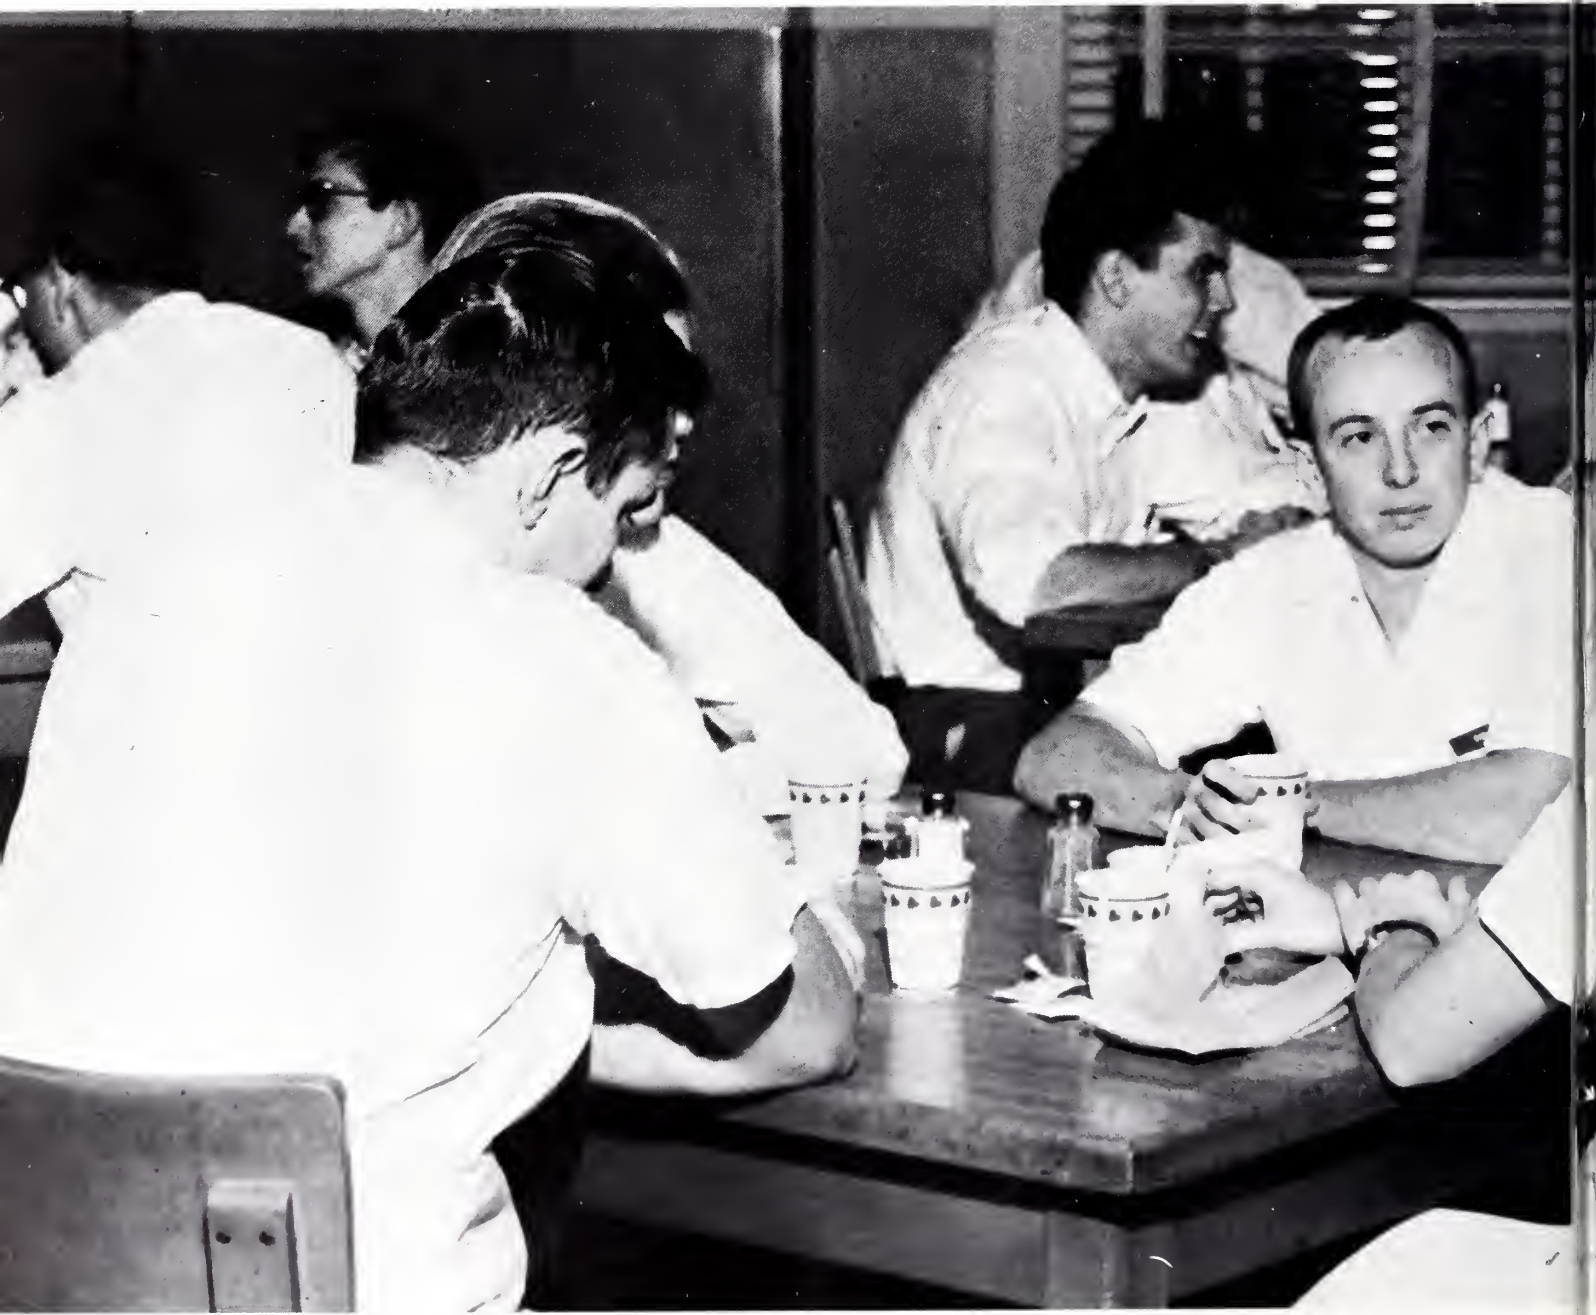

Exploration . . .

New places, ideas, realms, and ways
of life . . .
Some are fondly remembered, others
rule our profession, and all guide
our lives.

Relaxation . . .

The stolen moment, the welcome break,
the necessary release . . .
time to catch our breath, clarify our thoughts,
and strengthen our friendships.

Application . . .

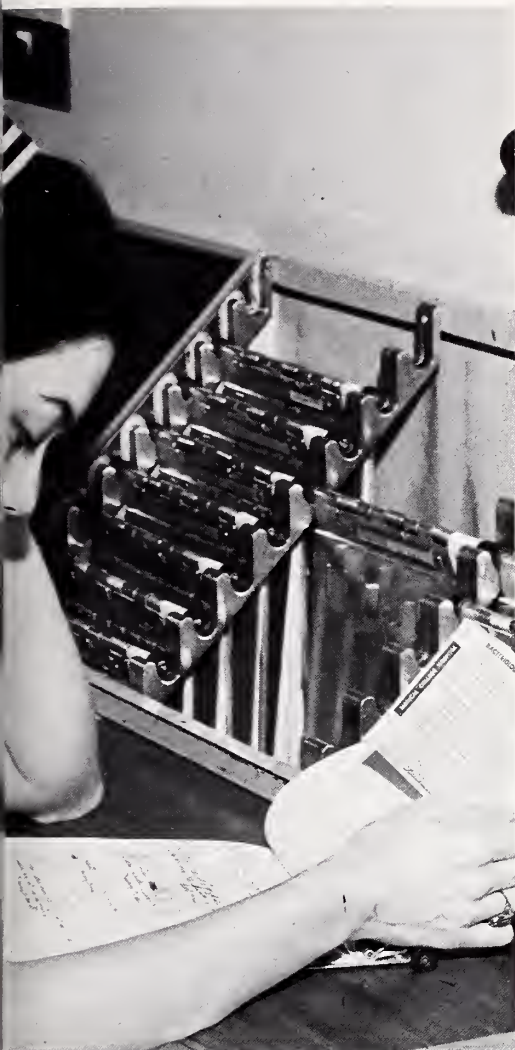

We studied, and worried, and waited . . .
for the end of our grooming and our new place in life.

Reflection . . .

The trials and tribulations, the rewards
and recognitions, the broadening of experience . . .
all of which bring us a new awareness.

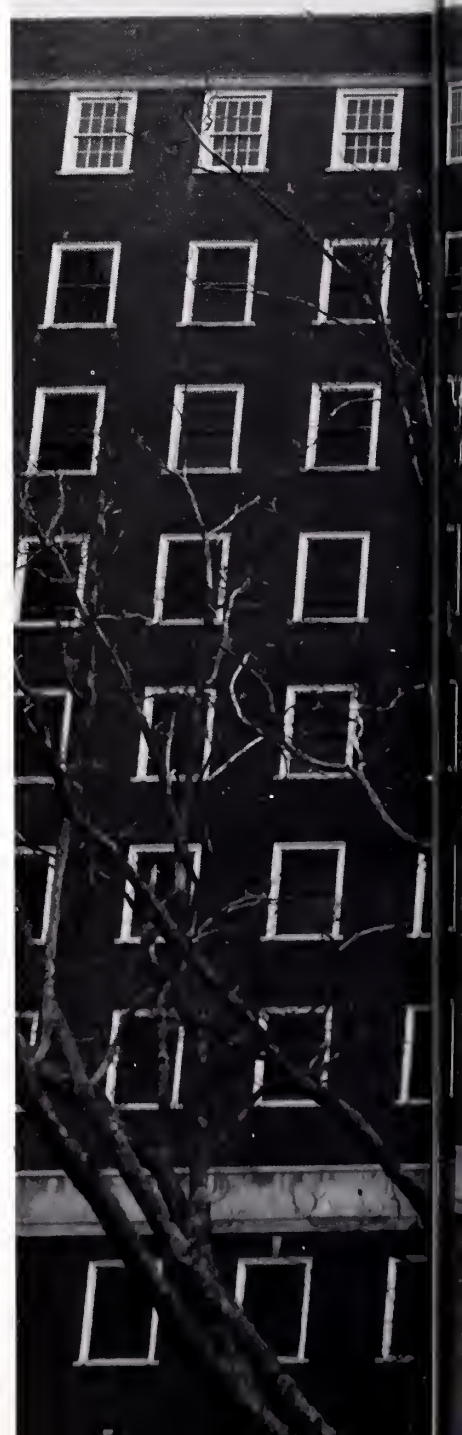

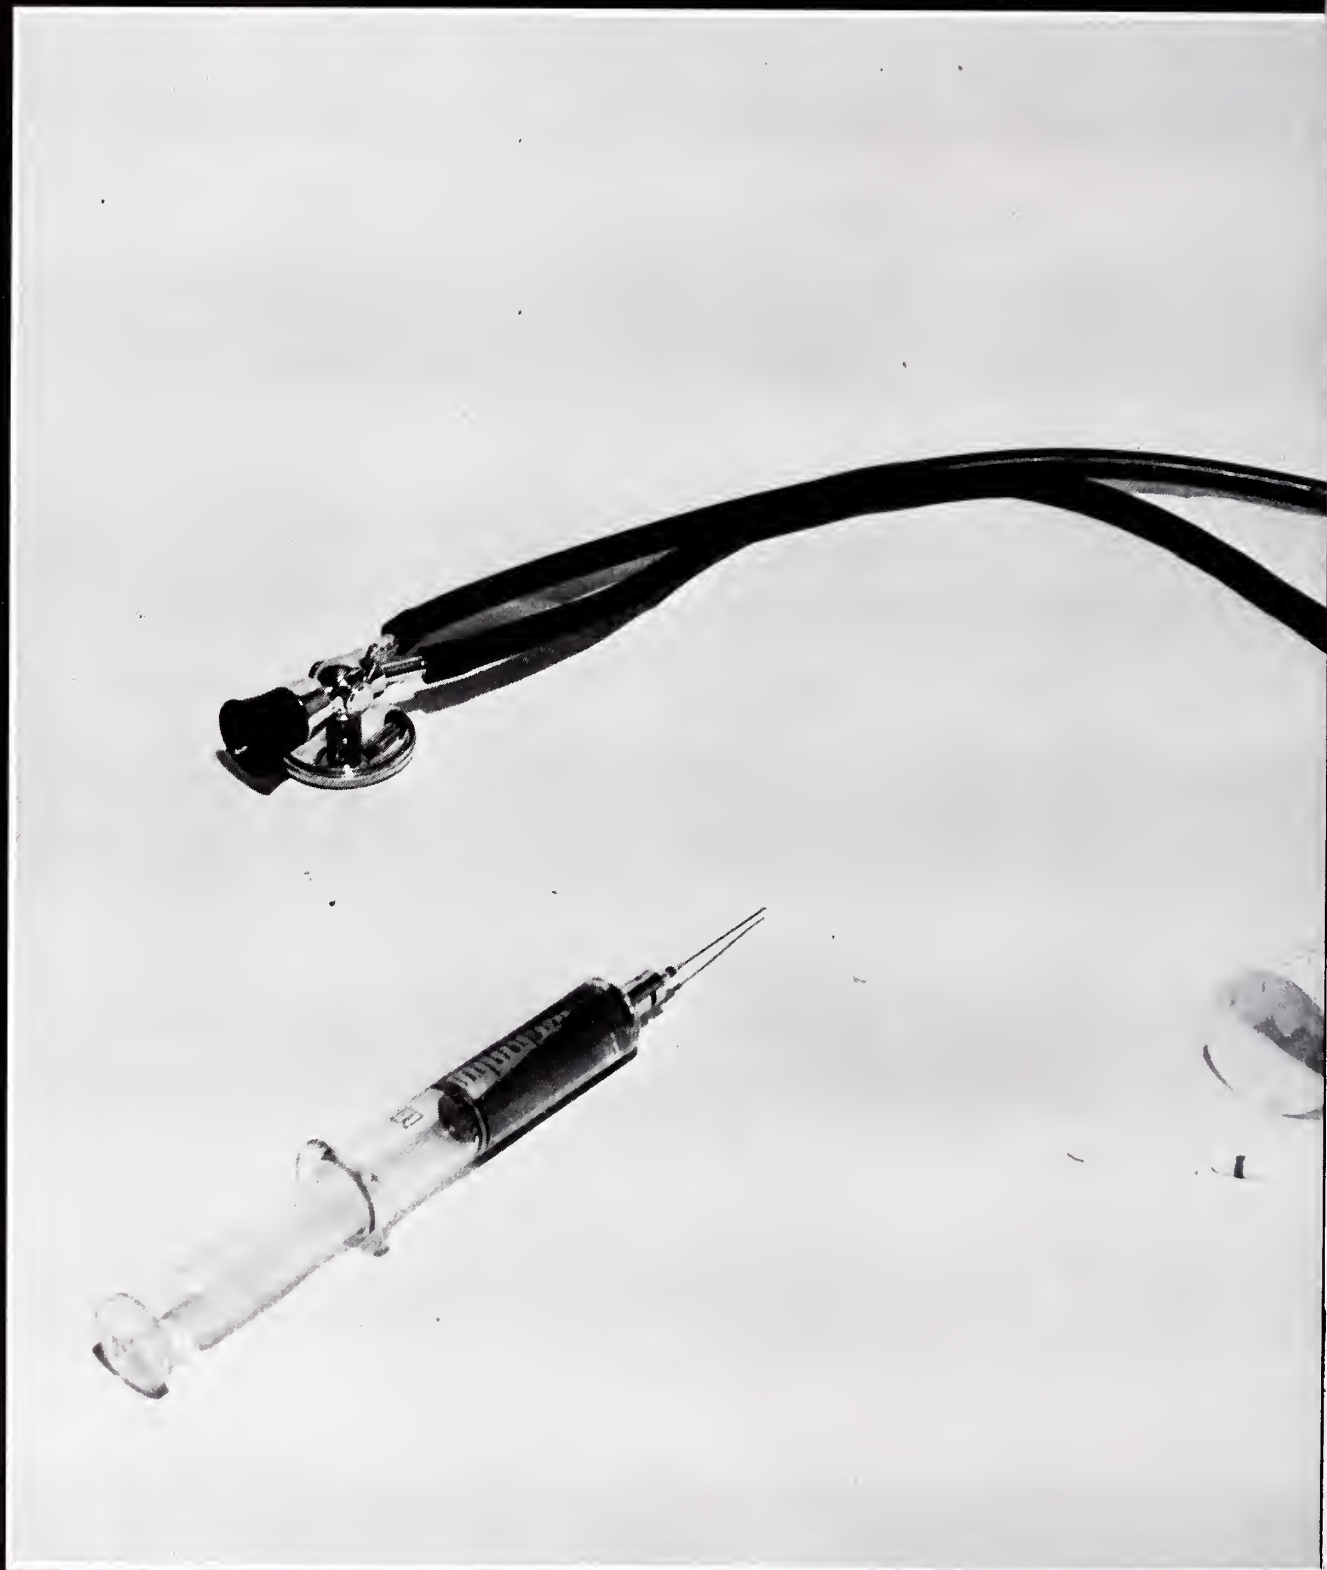

Achievement . . .

We are completing our requirements, perfecting
our skills . . . anticipating the fulfillment of our profession.

Dedicated to . . .

The Medical Profession

The 1967 Caducean is dedicated to the profession of MEDICINE, a way of life more than a livelihood . . .

. . . it is an alluring challenge, a lifelong pursuit, and a source of incalculable satisfaction. It encompasses the acquisition of knowledge from our forebears, the application of its ever-broadening principles, and the allocation of its secrets to future generations. It is the custodian of man's most important possession—his well-being.

Pediatric Staff on Rounds

Dr. Fredrick W. Kinard, a native of Leesville, South Carolina, following undergraduate preparation at Clemson University and some graduate study at the University of Chicago, joined the faculty of the Medical College of South Carolina as an Assistant in Chemistry. After three years in this position, he went to the University of Virginia as Research Fellow and Instructor in Biochemistry. Obtaining the Ph.D. degree at Virginia, he returned to the Medical College of South Carolina as an Instructor in Physiology. During the intervening period he has successively held the various positions which culminated in a professorship in Physiology. Through leaves of absence, he undertook further graduate study in the Universities of Chicago and Michigan and completed work for the M.D. degree at the University of Tennessee.

When a graduate program was instituted at the Medical College of South Carolina in 1949, Dr. Kinard became Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Studies. In 1965, all graduate endeavors were incorporated in a formal organization, the School of Graduate Studies, with Dr. Kinard as Dean.

The graduate division, in seventeen years, has provided an opportunity for 23 students to receive the Ph.D. degree and 37 to obtain the M.S. degree. Enrollment in the School of Graduate Studies is steadily increasing with students currently studying in the departments of Anatomy, Chemistry, Microbiology, Pathology, Pharmacology and Physiology. When more research funds and laboratory space become available, and as the faculty is enlarged, activity in the graduate area doubtless will increase.

Dr. W. H. Golod
Dean, School of Pharmacy

In September, 1950, William Hersh Golod entered Fordham University graduating with a B.S. in Pharmacy. In August, 1954, he entered St. Louis College of Pharmacy and Science receiving his M.S. degree in August, 1955.

From September, 1955 until June of 1958 he attended Purdue University receiving his Ph.D. with a specialty in Physical Pharmacy.

In August, 1958, Dr. Golod joined the faculty of the School of Pharmacy at the Medical College of South Carolina as an Assistant Professor. He was promoted to Associate Professor of Pharmacy in July, 1963, and in September of that same year assumed the duties of Assistant Dean. With the retirement of Dr. William A. Prout, Dr. Golod was appointed Dean of the School of Pharmacy by the Board of Trustees in 1965.

Miss Elizabeth Mills
Dean, School of Nursing

Miss Mills graduated from the Emory University School of Nursing, Atlanta, Georgia in 1933. She holds a B.S. Degree in Public Health Nursing from Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee and a M.A. Degree from Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City.

Her background includes supervision in Nursing Service and in teaching and administration. As a member of the Emory University School of Nursing Faculty for twelve years, she was head of the Department of Medical-Surgical Nursing. She was Director of the Piedmont Hospital School of Nursing from 1963-1965.

She has been a member of the National League for Nursing since its inception and has held numerous state offices. She is a member of the Sigma Theta Tau National Honor Society in Nursing. Much of Miss Mills experience in collegiate nursing has included the critical study of the Nature of Professional Nursing and various research explorations in the development of designs which might yield data toward the possible development of a theory of Clinical Nursing.

Miss Mills is currently directing the establishment of the Baccalaureate Program for the School of Nursing at the Medical College of South Carolina.

Registration marks the beginning of an interesting and informative day in pharmacy, medicine, and nursing.

Dr. McCord, President of the Medical College, and Dr. S. W. Block, President of the Alumni Association, relax during an informal moment.

Dr. J. R. Youmans, chairman of Founder's Day Committee, introduces Dr. J. W. Conn, principal speaker on the medical program.

Founder's Day

Founder's Day had its inception on November 8, 1934, commemorating the 110th Anniversary of the Medical College in honor of those men who initiated the medical education effort in this state. Actually, the event was not new even in 1934, because, prior to this an annual event of two weeks duration was held for discussion of postgraduate material in various fields of medicine. Then, as now, the event was not restricted to the students of medicine but open to para-medical personnel and even the lay public.

Although, shortened from two weeks to two days, this annual, traditional, even historic event has not reduced the offerings for advanced medical education and enlightenment. Like the first, 32 years ago, the most advanced techniques are offered, now in medicine, nursing and pharmacology with rewarding information to all through the notable contributors that are invited from throughout the world each year.

Though coverage is limited by space only this year, we take the same pride and appreciation that existed over thirty years ago in the event honoring the founders of the Medical College. Through their inspiration and the continued efforts of those responsible individuals, Founder's Day will continue to be a remembered educational, as well as social and fellowship event as we pursue our respective careers in medicine.

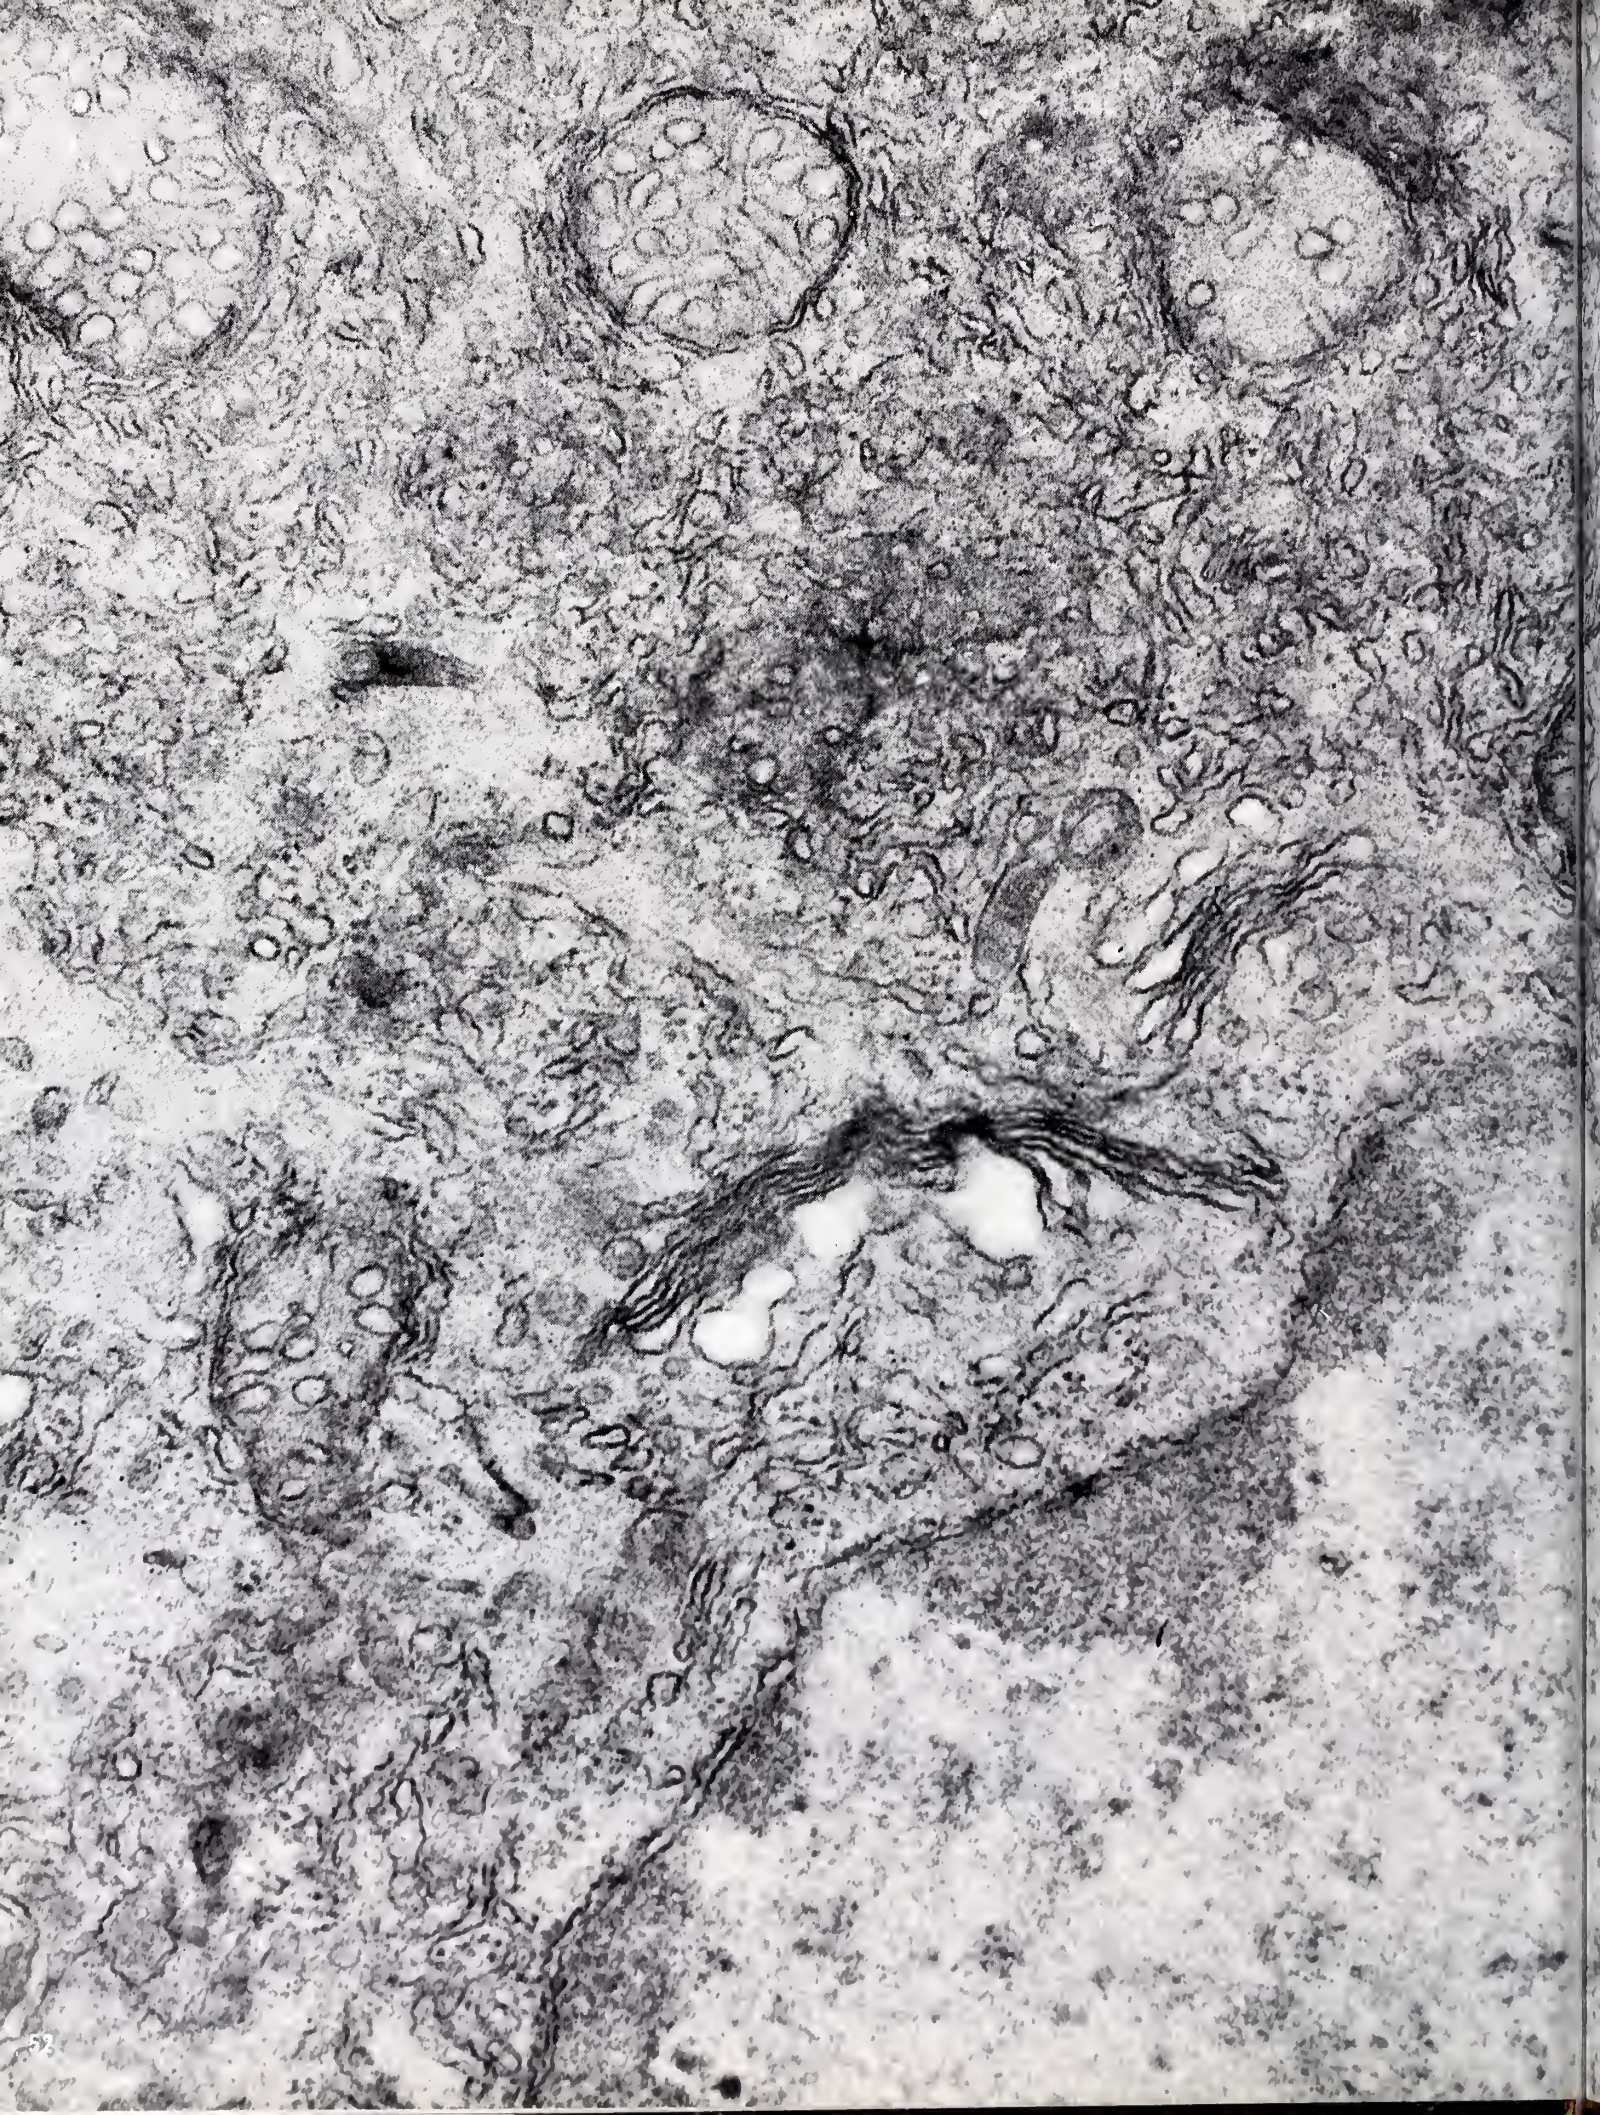

The School of Nursing is the scene of a challenging presentation to today's nurses by Miss Virginia Henderson

Doctor of Philosophy

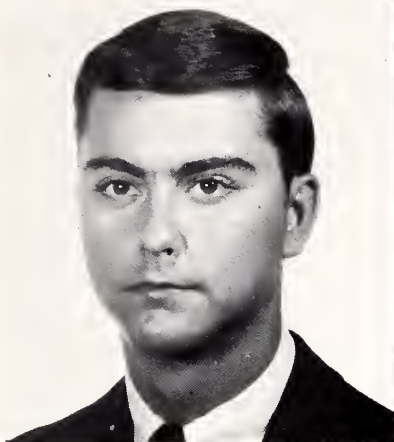

The granting of the Doctor of Philosophy degree is based upon evidence of general proficiency and of distinctive attainments in a special field, and particularly upon the demonstrated ability to carry on independent and original investigation. The degree is not one to be conferred solely as a result of study for a specific length of time with the accumulation of credits for courses taken.

ACTIVITIES

Student Council of Schools of Medicine and Pharmacy

The Student Government Association of the School of Medicine is composed of the entire student body and is led by a president elected from the School of Medicine and a vice-president elected from the School of Pharmacy. The ideals of the Association are patterned after those of the Hippocratic oath.

The Student Government Association, composed of the entire student body, is an organization which functions efficiently through active student participation. Students are elected to serve on a Student Council which acts as an executive board to the Student Government Association. Advancement of high ideals in nursing, promotion of loyalty, pride in the school and the maintenance of self-government are the purposes of the Association.

SAPHA

The student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association was organized for the purpose of bringing the students together with the members of the A.Ph.A. to discuss matters of common interest and to encourage their participation in the programs of the Association. Through meetings during the year a wide range of topics are discussed which encourage the students toward an understanding of pharmacy and its place on the health team.

SAMA

The Student American Medical Association is a national organization, the membership of which is comprised of medical students, interns, residents, and physicians in practice. The organization seeks to serve the membership through the maintenance of student communication, the sponsorship of an insurance program, and the publication of a monthly journal. The local chapter assists medical students by providing the orientation program as well as serving as local liaison to the national organization.

Treasurer ... Terry Clark, Vice President ... Ralph Boyd, Secretary Ellen McCluggage, President ... Ed Hill

Honor Council

The purposes of the Honor Council are threefold:

- (1) To try cases involving violations of the Honor Code
- (2) To keep current the Honor Manual
- (3) To instruct the classes in the provisions set forth in the Honor Code.

Members of the Honor Council are elected by the School of Pharmacy, the School of Graduate Studies, and the School of Medicine to serve one year terms.

The Caducean Staff

This year, through the combined efforts of the students of the Schools of Graduate Studies, Medicine, Pharmacy and Nursing, a yearbook representing the majority of the Medical College has been compiled. Students from these four schools worked jointly to present a yearbook of which we can all be proud. It is one which we hope will give incentive to students in the coming years to continue what we have started.

The Caducean, the medical symbol of our profession, was the name chosen for our yearbook.

The Lamp Staff

The members of The Lamp represent all four classes of the School of Nursing, and all strive together to gather interest from around the hospital and Charleston area. The staff has worked hard to make its projects a success while meeting newspaper deadlines at the same time. Behind the scenes of each quarterly issue there has been a search for good assignments, frustration over revisions, last minute typing, and finally the excited anticipation as the finished product comes off the press.

Alpha Omega Alpha Fraternity

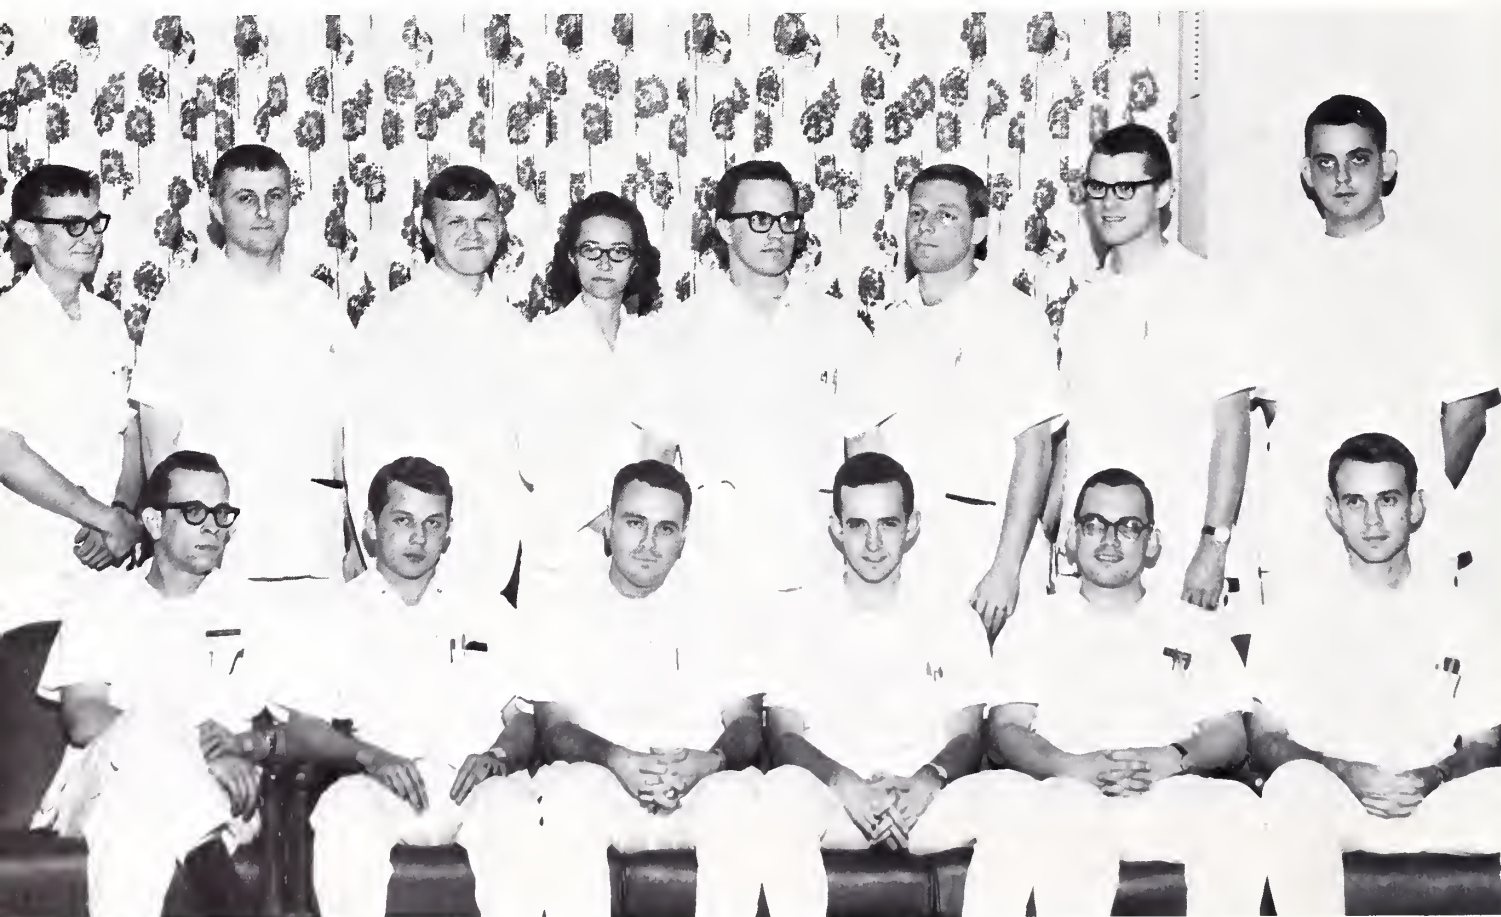

Alpha Omega Alpha is an honorary medical society, comprised of three classes of members. Undergraduate membership is based entirely on scholarship, personal honesty and potential leadership. Alumni and faculty membership is granted for distinctive achievements in the art and practice of scientific medicine, and honorary membership is awarded to eminent leaders in medicine and the allied sciences.

Its aims are the promotion of scholarship and research in medical schools, the encouragement of a high standard of character and conduct among medical students and graduates, and the recognition of high attainment in medical science, practice and related fields.

The motto of the society is, "to be worthy to serve the suffering."

This Caducean marks a new venture in the history of the Medical College. It is a first-time merging of the various schools in an effort to assemble a yearbook. Its conception was erratic and slow for there was neither previous staff nor format. Even so, it had the hearty approval of the administration and a reassuring promise of their support.

The 1967 Caducean is completed but its success lies not in its genesis, rather in the determination of succeeding years to carry out its traditions. The goal of a yearbook is far more than a finished product—though assuredly it may be the only visible memories of these school years. However, into each annual goes many hours of creative endeavor and invaluable associations with others. Ideally the spirit of an annual is that of a fraternity scrapbook—everyone joins in adding a small portion to the whole. Since so much time is required by school work, it is necessary for the succeeding Caduceans to strive to meet this goal. The editors wish to forward this request—that everyone take an active interest in the perpetuation of forthcoming yearbooks, each contributing small but excellent jobs to its preparation.
